

Monday morning convocation will feature Education Week

National Education Week will be observed at OU Monday at an all-school convocation at 10 a.m. in the auditorium. Morning classes will be shortened.

George Marling, one of the few American students chosen to attend the United Nations sessions in Switzerland this year, will give the featured address. The title of his talk is the same as that being used to proclaim Education Week: "United Through Freedom."

Special guest at the conyo will be Mrs. Wilda Freebern Faust, national executive secretary of the Future Teachers of America. She will be at the university all day and will address the In-

A special luncheon will be given at 11:30 in the east wing of the cafeteria. Guests attending will be eight people prominent in the education field. They include: OU President Milo Bail; Dr. Harry Burke, superintendent of Omaha schools; Miss Theresa Clark, president of the Omaha Education Association; Dr. Donald G. Smith, assistant superintendent of schools.

Revue chorus tryouts will be held Tuesday

Tryouts for the 1952 Tom Tom Revue chorus will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. Tuesday in room 438. Music Director Rollie Klopffleisch urges that all students interested should try out.

Main roles for the show will not be decided until after the play "Tobias and the Angel," but those who would like to be heard should attend the Tuesday tryouts.

A chorus of 20 will be used for the January production. This will include five basses, five tenors, five altos and five sopranos.

There are 12 major roles to be filled later, and also a dance chorus to be selected. The Gateway will publish notice of later tryouts.

'Tobias and Angel' rehearsals enter final week - -

Amos' 'canine capers' point to 'howling' success; whip, sandals needed before next Friday's opening

By Nancy Gardiner and Lorelee Lemen

Two problems, one big and the other little, are currently plaguing the cast of "Tobias and the Angel" as rehearsals head into the homestretch.

With footlight dates set for Nov. 16 and 17 in OU's auditorium, it appears that Archangel Raphael will do his walking barefoot—and across the desert, too. Though the hot sands aren't real, the problem is that OU's angel, played by Dick Smith, sports a size 14½ D foot. Getting a sandal that big is a man-sized job and one of the "bigger" problems facing Dr. Edwin L. Clark, University Players sponsor.

Canine capers

Another problem of less not-

Radio class arranges busy activity schedule

Omaha U radio students have plenty cut out for them in the next two weeks.

Sunday the department will take part in the "Your Sunday Workshop" program over KOWH. The program is scheduled for 10 a.m. At this time Dr. Edwin L. Clark will be interviewed regarding the University Players' production, "Tobias and the Angel." Dr. Clark is sponsor of the Players.

Beginning next week, radio students will get into full swing for KWOU broadcasts. Speakers will be installed in the Student Center beginning Monday.

Broadcasting is slated to begin Nov. 19. Programs will be heard twice each week for two or three hours. A name for the show has not been selected.

Applications due for holiday jobs

Applications for Christmas work with the US Post Office should be submitted by next Thursday. They may be picked up beginning today at the placement office, room 274.

Employment is limited to the period from Dec. 1 to Dec. 31. Peak employment will not begin until after Dec. 15, but applications should be submitted able size is a "dawg" named Amos who carries the monicker of "Toby" in the production.

Students wishing jobs during Christmas vacation are urged to get in their applications now.

Mrs. Thelma Engle of the student placement office stressed that applications should be turned in before Dec. 1 for the choice jobs.

When rehearsals started, Amos gained distinction for "yapping" less than other cast members. However, stage life apparently bores this canine who, after all, prefers a dog's life to one behind the footlights. Now Amos does nothing but yawn while on stage and bark when off.

Backstage antics

Besides those unruly actions, Amos' backstage manners are atrocious.

While a torrid love scene was being rehearsed onstage recently, Amos, who obviously cares nothing for such things, commenced howling backstage. All of these actions have caused Dr. Clark to mutter more

Former teacher presents library of French books

More than 600 French volumes have been turned over to the University of Omaha by Miss Gertrude Kincaide, former head of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures.

Most of the books fall into three categories: texts for beginners, histories and anthologies of French literature, and classical masterpieces of famous authors. The latter group contains works by Corneille, La Fontaine, Daudet, Moliere, Zola, Voltaire and Dumas.

In presenting the books Miss Kincaide expressed hope that the books would be the beginning of a new departmental library. The collection was accepted by Dr. C. S. Espinosa, head of the department. It is now in room 306 on special shelves built by Jack Adwers and his custodial staff.

All books are stamped with the seal of the department. They are available to the student body, faculty and administration of the university.

Naval chaplain will counsel ministry students Thursday

Ministerial students can learn about the life of a Naval chaplain Thursday.

Lt. Comm. Roderic Smith, district Naval chaplain, will be on campus to answer students' questions. Individual appointments for an interview can be made in the placement office Thursday morning.

1952 Beauty Contest set for early December

Entries due in Tomahawk office Monday; chairmen seek applications of unaffiliates

From one extreme to the other. That pretty well sizes up the situation at Omaha U where the "Ugliest Man on Campus" was crowned only last week.

Now its the most beautiful coed being sought, and she'll be crowned Queen of the 1952 Tomahawk Beauty Contest in the auditorium Dec. 11. The contest will run from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Marilyn Mellam and Joan Bugbee, contest chairmen, have announced preliminary plans for the annual event which generally puts OU coeds in a titty and leaves the males whistling.

Unaffiliates welcome

Each sorority and the Independent Students Association are eligible to enter six candidates for first, second and third place honors. The chairmen also emphasize the fact that unaffiliated girls are welcome to enter.

The contestants will get a chance to acquaint themselves with the surroundings at the dress rehearsal Dec. 10 in the auditorium from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m.

The co-chairmen emphasize that candidates must meet the eligibility requirements set down by the Dean of Students office.

Letters sent

Letters listing the requirements have been sent to the organization presidents. The names of the candidates must be in the Tomahawk office by Monday.

As yet the chairmen have not contacted the judges for the contest, but what counts when contestants cross the stage is already known: personality, poise, face, figure and carriage.

Each girl will appear in a formal dress and an afternoon dress, according to the co-chairmen. The contest is open to the student body.

Alum drive signs 330 applicants

A record number of memberships, totaling 330, has been signed up in the 1951 membership drive of the Omaha University Alumni Association.

John W. Adams, executive secretary, announced the winners. The team canvassing the north side of Dodge Street won over the south side team. Captains were Willis Brown, '51, north team, and George Reinhardt, '47, south team.

In the individual competition, James Borland, '51, took first place. Runners-up were Bill Fear, '50, and Martha Cole, '48.

Campaign manager for the drive was Kurt Sick, '40, ex-Gateway editor. The drive bettered the goal by 80 memberships.

Cheer squad seeks male replacement today

The cheerleading squad is feeling the effects of the man shortage. They are seeking a replacement for Wes Fulner, who was recently called to service. Tryouts for the new man of the 8-member squad will be held in room 386 at 3 p.m. today.

Any male student who would like a front row spot at sports events this winter is urged to report for the tryouts.

Wishful thinking

Because there are no experts on Soviet Affairs, Dr. Schwartz stated that America can only base its foreign policy on guessing. This guessing has led America to wishful thinking, and wishful thinking can lead us to defeat.

America can only estimate the strength of the Soviet Union; he continued. The military, the economic, and moral attitudes of the people are the three factors to consider in speaking of a country's strength.

Russia's army

The Soviet Union has an estimated four million men under arms. This army is well equipped and well trained. There are between ten and fifteen million reserves who average five years military training.

Although America out-purduces Russia, it is not as well equipped because Russia's production is for its military force. The Soviet Union is in a position today to support a full scale war over a long period of time.

"Must rearm"

America and the Western Powers must rearm for possible world war, warned Dr. Schwartz. He said that America could "lick the Soviet Union," but expressed hope that America would not have to prove it.

Bourne says - -

Smooth solutions solve problem for dateless, womenless males

We live in a frustrating world. But perhaps nothing is more frustrating to the college youth than to find he or she hasn't a date for the dance, party or game coming up this weekend.

Almost everyone on the college level has at one time or another noticed that there are two species inhabiting the world: men and women. Sooner or later, the former becomes interested in the latter, and vice-versa.

Listed here are five time-proven, guaranteed ways to get a date. They are written from the man's point of view, but since it is rapidly becoming a woman's world, the situation could also work the other way.

Routine one

A fella can always "wow" a coed into a date by coasting up to her in a red, blue or "yaller" convertible. Color really isn't so important; it's the convertible that counts.

Drive up to the gal, stop in her path and, with a nonchalant gaze, look her over. This always makes her feel you are brash, impudent and downright nasty. Give her a casual "hiyah" and move on.

Next time you meet her ask, "Say, haven't I seen you someplace before?" Continue with, "Oh! I know, you're so-and-so." This will make the young lady feel very stupid, in that she doesn't remember where she met you. She'll more than likely stop to chat, and then, friend, you're "in."

Routine two

This routine calls for a "blind date" fixed up for you by a buddy, former girl friend or just someone who swore revenge. Years of research by yours truly have proven conclusively that in blind dating, you can't trust your best friend. More than likely he knows fewer gals than you and is only trying to impress you. Use caution!

Routine Three

This routine is a lot of work. In short you have to be a "wheel." This means you must captain all the athletic teams, be editor of the school paper and yearbook, president of a fraternity and the Student Council, and have a scholastic average of not less than 3.99. With these accomplishments behind you, dating shouldn't be a problem. You just ain't got no time for girls!

Routine four

This is the "good Joe" act. A young lady who has already had one too many dates this week comes to class and the nasty prof throws a mean "pop" quiz. A pop quiz has been defined as, "a quiz taking not longer than ten minutes, given at an unscheduled and unexpected time." They have also been referred to as "sudden death."

Upon receiving the quiz the coed turns a sickly green. She went out the night before, got home late and was too tired to study. "Good Joe" (that's you) seeing the young lady's plight comes to the rescue and slips her the answers. (That's cheat-in'.) Both pass with high grade. "Good Joe" gets a date as reward for his valor.

Routine five

This angle is very similar to Routine three. When you begin your college career, join as many organizations as possible. Here you meet girls. Here you sweep them off their feet with your (1) corny jokes, (2) witty sayings and, (3) scintillating personality. Sooner or later, they ask you for a date.

In dating, the male must remember the old line about, "You remind me of my sister" is definitely out. Your sister may be dead, and if the coed ever finds out. . . .

Anonymous telephone calls rarely work. They are only for bashful, timid men.

Dating really isn't a problem if both parties concerned will remember that you must possess certain traits of suaveness, politeness and gallantry. Just have the right answers before the question is asked, and you have nothing to worry about!

Lazy students' lifesaver, the penny postcard, to suffer effects of national inflation soon

The government in its fight to procure enough money to finance the world has decided to raise the postcard from its present one cent rate to two cents. The new postcards will go into effect on Jan. 1, 1952.

Postcards have long been the lifesaver of the lazy letter writer. People have used the postcard to write anything from "Having a wonderful time, wish you were here" to "Nothing new here so can't see the sense of wasting three cents for a letter."

College men and women have been quick to realize the economy of the penny postcard for letting the folks back home know the latest campus news.

Same guy?

With the proper training, the college student realizes that a postcard can be made very ambiguous. Consider the following three cards from College Joe to his mother, his gal back home and his buddy at a neighboring college.

Dear Mom: Boy, I sure have been working hard down here at the university. All I ever do is study, study, study. The professors here are very good and I am bound to learn a lot. Say, Mom, if it is possible, will you send me an extra $25? I still have to buy some books. Your loving son, Joe.

Oh, brother!

Dear Mary: Gee, darling, I miss you. I have only been here a couple of months and it seems like years. When I am away from you, all I can think about are the good times we have had together. I just can't wait for the first vacation so I can get home to see you. Please write. As ever, your Joe.

Dear Al: What a time I'm

Omaha U gridders to face Simpson eleven in last road game of season

Gunning for a .500 mark, the Omaha gridders will invade Indianola, Ia., this afternoon at 2 p.m. to tackle Simpson College.

By downing Morningside last week, the Indians are now in possession of a 3-4 record. By winning this afternoon and Nov. 17, the Indians could finish the season over the .500 mark.

The Simpson Redmen are working on a two game winning streak. They downed Parsons College, 18-12, and Central College, 19-13 last week for their only two wins of the season.

Redmen lose six

Earlier in their campaign, they dropped their first six games, to Macalester, Knox, St. Ambrose, Iowa Wesleyan, Coe College and Dubuque.

The OU-Simpson tilt will be the last game of the season for the Redmen.

Omaha has met Simpson four times in the past, winning the last three games. The first game was won by the Redmen in 1932, as they nudged Omaha, 7-6.

OU wins in '50

OU left no doubt as to the better team the last three times the two have clashed on the gridiron. In 1940, Omaha won 27-0. They again shut out the Redmen in '41, 20-0. Last year, the Indians swamped Simpson in taking a 38-6 victory.

Coach Lloyd Cardwell's Indians should be in top shape for today's game as the Indians got through last week's win over Morningside without any serious injuries.

The only Indian on the ailing list is tackle Lou Marcuzzo. Marcuzzo dislocated a knee in practice a week ago.

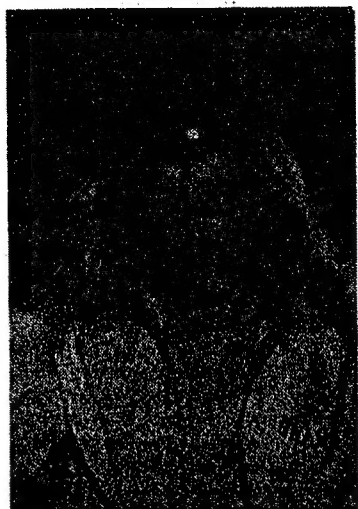

Coach Cardwell has slated no more scrimmages for his gridders in order to escape further injuries.

Last road game

Today's game with Simpson is the last road game for the Indians. They will close their schedule next weekend against Northern Illinois in the Omaha Stadium.

Probable Omaha starters for the Indians on offense will be Bob Rose and Don Maseman at the ends, Dick Lane and Howard Byram at tackles, Jack Annin and Rich Moscrey at guards, and Larry Johnson at the center position. Backs are Jerry Ziehe, Keith Christie Aksel Schmidt and Joe Gurnett.

On defense, the line will be Frosty Westering, Maseman, Lane, Neil Apker, Moscrey and Jim Spencer. Line backers are Johnson and John Jeter, and the backs are Schmidt, Gurnett and Rose.

Jerry Ziehe . . . His hard running against Morningside vaults him into the lead in the ground gaining department.

Ziehe, Christie top OU offense

Jerry Ziehe, hard-running fullback from Villisca, Ia., has moved into the lead in the Omaha U football ground gaining department.

So far this year, Ziehe has carried the ball a total of 85 times for a net yardage gain of 292 yards, or a 3.4 average per rush. Keith Christie and John Wiren are second and third in rushing with totals of 265 and 260 yards respectively.

However Christie holds a big edge in the passing bracket with 406 yards via the air lanes. "Chris" has completed 28 out of 86 tosses, good for four touchdowns.

Number two man in the aerial division is John Potts who has hit his target on five of 25 throws good for 56 yards.

In total offense and scoring, Christie is again in the driver's seat. However, he must share the scoring honors with Ziehe as both men have countered four tallies.

Combining both rushing and passing, Christie has accumulated a 671 yard total. Ziehe, Wiren and Potts follow in that order. Potts is also the punting leader with a 32.5 average.

Varsity basketballers begin tomorrow; other cagers start Tuesday

Finally the good news is here. Basketball practice will start tomorrow.

Head Basketball Coach Don Pflasterer announced that basketball practice for varsity lettermen and "B" team members will begin Saturday.

The only stipulation being whether or not the floor is ready. Workmen have been toiling for two weeks on the maples, and it should be ready.

Practice for anyone else interested will start next Tuesday at 4 p.m. All men who are interested in the round ball sport should check out equipment and be on hand.

Aside from last year's lettermen, four promising newcomers have been working out in the Fieldhouse. Bob Mackie, Fred Shinrock, Don Petersen and Dick Davis are the new faces.

Mackie is a freshman from Omaha Tech where he was a standout ballhandler. Shinrock, a sophomore, earned his freshman numeral last year at Iowa State. Petersen and Davis will add height to the OU prospects.

Gamma Mu holds OUWI keg lead; volleyball tourney will start soon

Gamma Mu's still hold the lead in the women's bowling league with a record of 15 wins and six defeats. NISA is second with a 14-7 slate, while the Chi O's are in third third place with 12 victories and nine setbacks.

Doris Hanson of the Chi O team rolled the week's highest game with a total of 166 pins. Marilyn Rogers of the same sorority was a close second with a 164 sum.

Nov. 20 is the date set for the beginning of the OUWI volleyball tournaments. Organizations who are planning to enter teams in the competition are requested to turn in squad lists to the PE Hut by Tuesday. Lists for the unaffiliated girls are posted in the Hut.

OUWI badminton matches got into full swing this week, but in order that the second round can begin, all girls are requested to contact their opponents as soon

Theta's earn right to meet Blackhaws in clash for top

Theta Phi Delta will meet the Blackhaws in the finals of the intramural sweepstakes football tournament. The game has been scheduled for Monday, Nov. 12.

The Theta's earned the right to play in the final round by edging Sigma Phi Epsilon by penetration Wednesday. That is, each team is given four downs from the 50 yard line to gain as much yardage as possible.

The Sig Eps went eight yards in the hole while a long pass to Don Palmquist iced the contest for the Theta's.

Theta's score first

Previous to the penetration, the teams were tied 6-6. Theta Phi Delta scored first on a 35 yard pass from Charlie Platt to Lou Anderson, while the Sig Eps countered later in the first quarter on a 22-yard aerial from Frank Schuchart to Dick McKee.

In order for the Theta's to cop the title, it will be necessary for them to drop the Blackhaws twice since the Hawks are undefeated. Theta's lost to the Blackhaws earlier, 6-0.

Fraternities vie

Interfraternity football will receive its start today with two games on tap. Sigma Phi Epsilon tackles Phi Epsilon Pi, while Theta Phi Delta meets Theta Chi.

Both the Sig Eps and the Theta's have beaten their today's foe. Sigma Phi Epsilon blasted the Phi Eps 21-0 while Theta Chi fell to Theta Phi Delta 12-0.

The deadline for entries in the intramural basketball league has been set for Nov. 21.

Schmidt misses point try for first time this year

Aksel Schmidt, who has earned the nickname of "automatic" due to his unerring accuracy of booting extra points, finally met his Waterloo against a 50 mile-per-hour wind last Saturday.

After the first touchdown, Schmidt booted one with the wind that split the uprights. But when the Indians changed directions in the second quarter, Aksel really had his work really cut out for him.

On the try for point following the second OU score, Schmidt kicked one that curved around the goal posts to keep his record intact.

However, after the third tally, an outside penalty nullified his perfect kick, and on the second attempt the pigskin squirted off to the right.

Papoose Pow Wow fetes actives tonight at Peony

The Papoose Pow Wow will be the theme of the Pledge Dance tonight at Peony Park. The annual all-Greek affair is sponsored by the Pledge Council under the direction of Bill Crites.

Eddy Haddad's orchestra will play from 9 p.m. to midnight for all Greeks and their dates. Admittance will be by the usual Greek card. Dress will be informal.

Bob Darrah, head of the Entertainment Committee, promises unusual entertainment. Members of his committee include Joanne Gross, Paula King, Anita Raznick and Frank Schuchart.

Decorations for the dance center around the "papoose" theme. Patricia Cosford heads the committee, Ginger Pearson, Greta Young, Virginia Cline, Don Digilio, Joanne Krups, Santo Terranto and Jim Erixson are her assistants.

Sponsors for the dance include Mr. and Mrs. C. Eugene Hampton, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Wardle, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Earl and Mr. and Mrs. William T. Utley.

Phi Epsilon Pi . . .

Phi Epsilon Pi will celebrate its annual Founders' Day Weekend Nov. 21 to 24. The fraternity, which was founded at City College of New York in 1904, is planning two events in honor of the celebration.

The group will hold an overnight stag party Wednesday, Nov. 21, at Johannesburg Lodge at Camp Brewster.

Phi Mu Alpha holds pledging

Fifteen men were pledged to Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national music fraternity, last Thursday at noon. The ceremony was held in the music room. Rolly Klopfeisch, president of the fraternity, presided during the pledging.

Pledges are Tom Beach, Donald Bucknam, Ken Butler, Ralph Carey, Robert Dain, Joy Fields, Larue Garret, Frederic Homan and Jack Irwin. Others are Richard Jenkins, Robert Kundel, Kenneth Rumery, John Vana, George Wheeler and Marvin Workman.

Claire Strasser, Lois Disney, Darlene Lesh and Pat Doyle gave reports to the Home Economics Club Monday on the Province Workshop at Columbia, Mo., last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Sig Eps scout for clues as pledges kidnap prexy

This year the Sig Ep pledge class got away. It is the first time since the war that the pledges of Sigma Phi Epsilon were successful in their skip night activities.

Pledges attribute their success to a combined effort of difficult clues, conniving parents and shrewd kidnapping. They placed their clues on the shore of the island in the lake at Fontenelle Park, attached one to a fire hydrant in South Omaha, and hid one in a Gillard Cab that was riding all over Omaha.

Bill Crites' mother and brother kept actives waiting 20 minutes by making them believe that Bill was taking a shower. Kenny Kremers, Sig Ep president, was the victim of the kidnapping pledges. Kremers answered his door and was pulled out of his house, blindfolded and handcuffed. The actives, unable to figure out any of the clues, spent the evening answering the telephone and "partying." The pledges were at 2316 No. 52 St.—also "partying."

Sigmas hold annual barn dance at lodge

Jeans, paid shirts and calico skirts will be the dress for Sigma Kappa's traditional Barn Dance tomorrow night. The party will be held at Inspiration Lodge.

The lodge will be decorated with cornstalks, pumpkins and streamers. Refreshments will include cider, donuts, popcorn and apples. Jodie Pierce is chairman of the event. Assisting her will be Margie Jones, Darlyne Lesh and Lois Disney.
